

The SUNDAY Coupler

Volume 1 Number 1

May 9, 2010

Just for fun I have decided to try my hand at making the pictures into sort of a newsletter. So here goes with Sunday May 9, 2010.

Jim Greathouse backing the second train into the Station.

Next we have Kary Eckrich after his brush with the flying stopper. Seems the plug for the hydro got pushed down the drypipe and when the throttle was removed and Kary tried to get it out with a drill it decided to remove itself explosively.

Here we have Mike Lorange backing 535 into the station for its test run later in the afternoon. 400 has just returned from its first test run after performing well although the cylinder cock lever would shortly cause a problem. Reports are 535 also performed well.

Although we were short on crew we did manage to have a good day. We hope more people will be coming out in the future as we need the help and after all it is fun.

If anyone else would like a copy of future issues please email me at gwapelhorst@att.net.
